

Subscription Benefits

Rehrig Financial Services offers customers the chance to subscribe to use Rehrig Pacific products rather than purchase products in batches every few years. This option provides customers with the following:

Improved Cash Flow:

Regular, predictable subscription payments make you better positioned for budgeting and financial planning.

Access to Advanced Technologies:

Subscriptions provide regular access to advanced technology upgrades, such as smart bins, IoT sensors, or data analytics platforms. This allows for more efficient operations, better service, and data-driven decision-making.

Data-Driven Insights:

Subscription-based models allow you to generate valuable data concerning efficiency, delivery, and warehouse management. Customers leverage this data to optimize operations, increase profitability, make data-driven decisions, and improve performance.

Reduced Upfront Costs:

Eliminate the need for significant upfront capital investments and make acquiring or upgrading products and services easier without financial burdens.

Proactive Maintenance and Support:

Subscriptions enable you to receive proactive maintenance and support services regularly, free of unexpected cost. Including regular warranties and support in a subscription can minimize service disruptions and ensure customer satisfaction.
